ABSTRACT

The report provides listings of FY91-FY93 Title VII projects serving students in grades 9-12. Projects are listed by fiscal year, program type, and state or territory. The listing includes projects in Part A programs that serve students directly: transitional bilingual education; developmental bilingual education; special alternative instructional and special populations programs. All projects serving any of grades 9-12 are listed. Each listing includes the project identification number, grantee organization, city, state/territory, contact person, and telephone number. For each fiscal year, a separate listing if provided; continuing projects appear in more than one listing. Within each fiscal year, projects are listed by program type. Special priority program categories are included as separate groupings within each respective program type. (MSE)

YEAR THREE ANNUAL REPORT

The Special Issues Analysis Center (SIAC), as a technical support center, provides assistance to the Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs (OBEMLA), U.S. Department of Education (ED). The purpose of the SIAC is to support OBEMLA in carrying out its mission to serve the needs of limited English proficient students. In this role, the SIAC carries out data analysis, research, and other assistance to inform OBEMLA decision-making. These activities are authorized under the Bilingual Education Act of 1988, Public Law 100-297.

The responsibilities of the SIAC are comprised of a variety of tasks. These tasks include data entry and database development, data analysis and reporting, database management design, design of project accountability systems, and policy-related research and special issues papers. This report describes activities carried out by the SIAC in Year Three. A full list of SIAC products for all three years of operation is presented in the Appendix.

This Annual Report consists of seven volumes, which include the overview report on the SIAC activities in Year Three plus six additional volumes. These volumes present copies of selected reports submitted to OBEMLA by the SIAC in the past year, including copies of all task order reports submitted. The contents of each volume are outlined below:

Volume I:	Overview of SIAC activities in Year Three;
Volume II:	Copies of Short Turnaround Reports (STRs) based on analyses of Title VII application data and other data related to LEP students;
Volume III:	The SEA Report/Task Seven;
Volume IV:	Task Order 12 and Task Order 13 Reports;
Volume V:	Task Order 10 and Task Order 16 Reports;
Volume VI:	Task Order 17 and Task Order 19 Reports; and,
Volume VII:	Task Order 16 and Task Order 21 Reports.

The Special Issues Analysis Center is a technical support center to the U.S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs.

FY91-FY93 Title VII Part A Projects Serving Grades 9-12

This report provides project listings of FY91-FY93 Title VII programs serving students in grades 9-12 sorted by fiscal year, program type, and state. The listing includes projects in Part A programs that directly serve students, that is, projects within the Transitional Bilingual Education, Developmental Bilingual Education, Special Alternative Instructional, and Special Populations programs. All projects serving any of grades 9-12 are included in this listing. Table 1 summarizes the number of projects in the listings.

Each project listing includes the project identification number, grantee organization, city, state, contact person, and phone number. For each fiscal year, a separate listing is provided; therefore, continuing projects appear in more than one listing. Within each fiscal year, the projects are listed by program type. Special priority program categories are included as separate groupings within each respective program type. Projects from the U.S. territories are listed at the end of each listing of projects.

Title VII Services to Native American Students:
FY93 Title VII Part A Programs

The following report provides information for Title VII Part A projects serving Native American students. Throughout this report, the term "Native American" is used to refer to students from Native American language backgrounds and Alaskan Native language backgrounds. In FY93, Native American students were served by projects within the following six programs: Transitional Bilingual Education, Transitional Bilingual Education (Math/Science Priority), Special Alternative Instructional, Special Alternative Instructional (Math/Science Priority), Special Alternative Instructional (Recent Arrivals Priority), and Special Populations. The data in this report which relate to Native American students are based on application data from 916 (92.1%) of the total 995 Part A projects that were funded in FY93.

Table 1 presents the total number of projects serving students and the number of projects that serve Native American students. Overall, 197 projects serve one or more Native American students. Of those projects serving Native American students, 102 (51.8%) serve Native American students only.

The remaining data in this table are based on the 916 (92.1%) projects that provided data on language background. The Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy programs do not directly serve students. Native American refers to both Native American and Alaskan Native students.

Table 2 displays data on the number of Native American students served by Title VII Part A programs. Overall, there were 361,772 students served by Part A programs; 36,378 of the students served were Native American. Of those Native American students, 30,371 (83.5%) were LEP students. The Transitional Bilingual Education (Regular) program served the largest number of Native American students (16,263 LEP and non-LEP).

Notes: Table 3

Table 3 presents the amount of funding for Part A projects serving Native American students as compared to funding for all Part A projects that serve students directly. Part A projects that provide direct services to students receive almost $138.6 million in funding. Approximately $18.1 million (13.0 percent of the total $138.6 million) was used by projects to serve Native American students. However, this figure may slightly underestimate the actual amount of funding since the estimates are based on 92.1% of the total funded projects. The Transitional Bilingual Education (Regular) program directed the largest amount of funding toward services to Native American students ($8,296,072), followed by the Special Alternative Instructional (Regular) program ($3,975,159) and the Transitional Bilingual Education (Math/Science Priority) program ($3,656,131).

The Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy programs do not directly serve students. Native American refers to both Native American and Alaskan Native students.

 Estimates of funding for Native American students were calculated based on project-level analyses, as follows: (1) The amount of estimated funding per student within each project was obtained by dividing the obligated funds for the project by the total number of students proposed to be served. (2) This per student estimate was then multiplied by the number of Native American students to be served by the project to obtain a project-level estimate of funding for services to Native American students. (3) The project estimates were summed to obtain estimated amounts of funds for Native American students for individual program categories and for Part A programs overall.

Table 4 includes both student and funding data for Native American students (LEP and non-LEP combined). In FY93, 10.1% of all students served in Part A programs were Native Americans. Thirteen percent of the funding for Part A projects was used to serve Native American students. This may slightly underestimate the actual amount of funding since the estimates are based on 916 (92.1%) of the total projects funded.

Grade Levels Served by Projects Serving Grades 9-12: FY91-FY93 Title VII Part A Programs

This report is based on a request for additional grade level information relating to Short Turnaround Report No. 43, "Listing of FY91-FY93 Title VII Part A Projects Serving Grades 9-12".

This report provides project listings of FY91-FY93 Title VII programs serving students in grades 9-12 sorted by fiscal year, program type, and state. The listing includes projects in Part A programs that directly serve students, that is, projects within the Transitional Bilingual Education, Developmental Bilingual Education, Special Alternative Instructional, and Special Populations programs. All projects serving any of grades 9-12 are included in this listing.

Each project listing includes the project identification number, grantee organization, city, state, and information on grade levels served. A separate listing is provided for each fiscal year since the data on grade levels served are inconsistent across years. For both FY91 and FY93, the lowest and highest grade levels served are provided. For FY92, the data are provided in the following grade level categories: PreK, K-2, 3-6, 7-8, and 9-12. For each of these grade categories, a value of "Y' indicates that at least one grade within the range was served. A value of "N" indicates that none of the grades within the range were served.

Within each fiscal year, the projects are listed by program type. Special priority program categories are included as separate groupings within each respective program type. Projects from the U.S. territories are listed at the end of each listing of projects.

Characteristics of Youth Ages 16-24 Enrolled in Adult Education Programs

The purpose of this report is to provide information on language, years of schooling, immigration status, and instructional program for language minority youth ages 16-24 enrolled in adult education programs. The data used in this report come from the National Evaluation of Adult Education Programs, a study which was conducted by Development Associates, Inc. The data are based on intake information collected in 1991-1992 from a sample of 5,975 adult education clients between the ages of 16 and 24; however, the results have been weighted to be nationally representative.

Table 1 presents data on the language spoken at home by youth ages 16-24 enrolled in adult education programs. The results indicate that, of the approximately 560,000 youth attending adult education classes, a majority of these clients speak a language other than English at home (52.5 percent of the 559,896 students).

Notes: Table 2

Table 2 displays data on the years of schooling and immigration status of language minority youth enrolled in adult education programs. Overall, 293,738 of the 559,896 young adult education clients were language minority students. Of these language minority students, 190,984 (65.0 percent) were recently arrived immigrants. Only 36,893 (12.6 percent) of the students were born in the United States. Further, 222,484 (75.7 percent) of the language minority students had completed at least some secondary education. A small proportion of the students (10.8 percent) had attended post-secondary classes, while very few (5.6 percent of the total 293,738) students had completed less than a fifth grade education.

Notes: Table 3

Table 3 presents data on the language spoken at home and the instructional program enrolled in by language minority youth in adult education classes who recently immigrated to the United States. Almost all (98.3 percent of the total 190,984) language minority youth students were enrolled in ESL programs. Of the ESL students, 149,216 (79.5 percent) speak Spanish. However, just over half (50.3 percent of the 3,225) of the ABE and ASE students speak a language other than Spanish at home.

Projected Numbers of Schools and Districts Eligible for FY95 Title VII Grants

Short Turnaround Report No. 47

Projected Numbers of Schools and Districts Eligible for FY95 Title VII Grants

This report was prepared to provide estimates of the numbers of schools and school districts which would be eligible for grants under the Comprehensive School Grants and Systemwide Improvement Grants sections of the new Title VII legislation under varying eligibility guidelines. The estimates were made using data from district and school mail questionnaires of the Descriptive Study of Services to Limited English Proficient Students. The study was conducted by Development Associates, and the numbers were based on the 1991-92 school year. Data were collected from 745 districts and 1,835 schools, and the data were weighted to be nationally representative.

Table 1 shows the numbers and percentages of schools with various percentages of LEP students as a percentage of all students. Thus for example, in 7,165 schools (24.2 percent of all schools serving LEP students), LEP students represent less than 1 percent of the overall school population. The cumulative percentage column is included so that it is possible to see what percentage of schools would be excluded under specific cutoffs. In order to calculate the number of eligible schools, the cumulative percentage should be subtracted from 100 percent, and the result multiplied by the total number of schools. Thus, for example, at a 20 percent cutoff, there would be approximately 5,626 eligible schools ([100-81.0 percent] * 29,608).

Notes: Table 2

Table 2 shows the numbers and percentages of districts with various percentages of LEP students as a percentage of all students. As the table indicates, LEP students represent less than 3 percent of total enrollment in 2,617 districts (52.4 percent of all districts serving any LEP students). LEP students represent 50 percent or more of the total population in 260 districts (3.8 percent of all districts serving any LEP students). In order to calculate the number of eligible districts based on a specific cutoff, the cumulative percentage should be subtracted from 100 percent, and the result multiplied by the total number of districts. Thus, at a 10 percent cutoff, there would be approximately 1,064 eligible districts ([100-78.7 percent] * 4,994).

Notes: Table 5

Table 5 shows the number of school districts which would be eligible under varying requirements in terms of the minimum number of LEP students, with no minimum percentage. For example, if districts were required to have at least 1,000 LEP students to apply, based on sample data approximately 393 districts would be eligible.

Notes: Table 1

Table 1 presents the number of projects and funding amount by state and program for FY94 Title VII Part A projects. Overall, there were a total of 1,082 funded Part A projects in FY94. These projects received approximately $152 million in obligated funding. Of all states, California had the largest number of projects (N=372) and received the greatest amount of funding ($53.9 million). New York had the second largest number of projects and obligated funding (166 projects, $24.9 million), followed by Oklahoma (78 projects, $9.2 million).

Overview of Obligated Funding: FY94 Title VII Part A and Part C Programs

Short Turnaround Report, No. 49

February 6, 1995

Development Associates, Inc.
Research, Evaluation, and Survey Services Division

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

Overview of Obligated Funding: FY94 Title VII Part A and Part C Projects

The following report presents data on the total obligated funding for FY94 Title VII Part A and Part C projects. Figure 1 provides overall data on obligated funding for Part A and Part C projects. Figure 2 presents data on obligated funding for Part A and Part C new grants (i.e., grants for projects in their first year of funding). Figure 3 presents the same data for continuing grants. Figure 4 provides data on the mean grant amount by program type.

Notes: Figure 1

Figure 1 presents the obligated funding for all Part A and Part C projects. Part A programs received approximately $152 million in FY94, while Part C programs received approximately $24.7 million. The Transitional Bilingual Education Program received the largest amount of funding ($60.2 million), followed by the Special Alternative Instructional Program ($27.2 million) and the Transitional Bilingual Education (Math/Science Priority) Program ($20.5 million). The Educational Personnel Training Program received the largest amount of funding ($10 million) for Part C Programs.

Figure 2 shows the amount of total obligated funding for new Part A and Part C grants. Approximately $38.1 million was awarded to new Part A projects. Of all Part A programs, the Transitional Bilingual Education Program received the largest amount of funding ($22.1 million) for new projects, followed by the Special Alternative Instructional Program ($6.9 million) and the Developmental Bilingual Education Program ($3.7 million). Approximately $8.0 million was awarded to new Part C projects. The Educational Personnel Training Program received $4.9 million in funding for new projects and the Bilingual Education Fellowship Program received about $1.7 million.

* There were no new funded Part A grants in the following categories: Transitional Bilingual Education Program (Math/Science Priority), Developmental Bilingual Education Program (Magnet Schools Priority), Special Alternative Instructional Program (Math/Science Priority), Special Alternative Instructional Program (Magnet Schools Priority), Transitional Bilingual Education Program (Recent Arrivals Priority), and Special Alternative Instructional Program (Recent Arrivals Priority).

 The numbers in parentheses represent the number of new projects funded in FY94.

 There were no new funded Part C grants in the Educational Personnel Training Program (Math/Science Priority) and Training, Development, and Improvement Program.

Figure 3 presents the amount of total obligated funds for continuing Part A and Part C grants. Among Part A programs, the Transitional Bilingual Education Program received the largest amount of funding ($38.1 million) for continuing projects, followed by the Transitional Bilingual Education (Math/Science Priority) Program ($20.5 million) and the Special Alternative Instructional Program ($20.2 million). Of the Part C programs, the Educational Personnel Training Program received the largest amount of funding ($5.2 million) for continuing projects, followed by the Educational Personnel Training (Math/Science Priority) Program ($4.6 million) and the Bilingual Education Fellowship Program ($4.0 million).

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

Obligated Funding Compared to Total Numbers of Students in States: FY94 Title VII Programs

This report is based on a request from OBEMLA for information on Title VII funding amounts for Part A and Part C projects compared to the total number of LEP students enrolled in each state. Table 1 presents data on FY94 Title VII Part A funding, the number of LEP students enrolled in each state, and the amount of Part A funding per LEP student by state. Table 2 provides data on FY94 Title VII Part A and Part C funding, the number of enrolled LEP students, and the amount per LEP student by state. The data on the number of LEP students enrolled was obtained from the the state counts of LEP students reported in the Title VII State Educational Agency Annual Survey (Henderson, Donly, and Strang, 1994, Special Issues Analysis Center) for FY93 and is based on LEP student enrollment for the 1992-93 academic year.

Table 1 presents data on funding amounts compared to total numbers of LEP students in states for FY94 Title VII Part A Programs. Maine had the largest amount per student average ($760) of all states. The smallest amount per student average for states that received Title VII Part A funding was in New Jersey ($7). Puerto Rico had an average of two dollars per student, the smallest amount per student average of all states and territories that received Title VII Part A funding.

Obligated Funds by State: FY94 Title VII Part A and Part C Programs

The following report provides data on the amount of obligated funds by state for FY94 Title VII programs. Figure 1 and Table 1 present data on funding for Part A programs by state. Figure 2 and Table 2 present data on funding for Part C programs by state.

Figure 1 displays the amount of Part A obligated funds by state in a map of the United States, including the U.S. territories. California received the largest amount of funding ($53.9 million), followed by New York ($24.9 million) and Oklahoma ($9.2 million). Table 1 parallels Figure 1. The table presents the specific funding amounts awarded to Part A projects within the individual states and territories in FY94.

Summary of Projects and Students Served by Language Groups: FY93 Title VII Part A Programs

Short Turnaround Report, No. 52

March 9, 1995

Development Associates, Inc.
Research, Evaluation, and Survey Services Division

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

Summary of Projects and Students Served by Language Group: FY93 Title VII Part A Programs

This report provides data on language groups served by FY93 Title VII Part A Programs. Table 1 presents the number of projects serving the most frequent language groups by program type. Table 2 provides data on the number of LEP students by program type for the most frequently served language groups. Table 3 provides an alphabetized listing of all language groups served by Title VII Part A programs, indicating the number of projects and the number of LEP, non-LEP, and total students served for each language listed. The Academic Excellence Program and the Family English Literacy Program are not included in this report since they do not directly serve LEP students.

Table 1 presents the number of projects by program type within the ten language groups most frequently served by FY93 Title VII Part A projects overall. The Spanish language group is the language group served by the largest number of projects (N=704). It is important to note that the number of projects serving the most frequent language groups is larger than the total number of Part A projects because projects may serve more than one language group.

Table 2 presents the number of LEP students within the ten language groups that are most commonly served by Part A projects overall. Spanish language LEP students represented the largest language group served. The other most common languages were five Asian languages (Vietnamese, Chinese, Hmong, Cambodian, and Korean), three Native American languages (Cherokee, Navaho and Dakota), and French Creole.

* The Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy Programs were not included in this table because they do not directly serve students. The numbers in this table are based on 916 (92.1%) of the 995 Part A projects that directly serve students.

 TBE=Transitional Bilingual Education Program; TBE(S)=Transitional Bilingual Education Program (Math/Science Priority); TBE(R)= Transitional Bilingual Education Program (Recent Arrivals Priority); DBE=Developmental Bilingual Education Program; DBE(M)= Developmental Bilingual Education Program (Magnet Schools Priority); SAIP=Special Alternative Instructional Program; SAIP(M)= Special Alternative Instructional Program (Magnet Schools Priority); SAIP(S)= Special Alternative Instructional Program (Math/Science Priority); SAIP(R)= Special Alternative Instructional Program (Recent Arrivals Priority); SP= Special Populations Program.

 "Other Languages" refers to languages which were specified but did not rank as one of the most common languages. "Unspecified" refers to students whose language group was not available. Most frequent languages are defined here as the language groups with the largest number of LEP students served by Title VII Part A overall.

For each language group served by Title VII Part A programs, Table 3 presents the number of projects that serve the language group and the number of LEP students, non-LEP students, and the total students served. The languages are listed alphabetically.

Overview of FY94 Title VII Part A and Part C Grant Applications

Short Turnaround Report, No. 53

March 15, 1995

Development Associates, Inc.

Research, Evaluation, and Survey Services Division

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

Overview of FY94 Title VII Part A and Part C Grant Applications

This report reviews Fiscal Year 1994 Title VII grant applications for Part A and Part C programs (Part B programs are not included in this overview). In FY94, a total of 2,225 Part A and Part C applications were received by the Department of Education. Of these, 1,814 were applications for Part A programs and 411 were applications for Part C programs. There were 1,289 new grant applications and 936 continuing grant applications.

In FY94 there were no new grant funds for the following programs: Transitional Bilingual Education (Math/Science Priority); Transitional Bilingual Education (Recent Arrivals Priority); Developmental Bilingual Education (Magnet Schools Priority); Special Alternative Instructional (Magnet Schools Priority); Special Alternative Instructional (Math/Science Priority); Special Alternative Instructional (Recent Arrivals Priority); Educational Personnel Training (Math/Science Priority); and Training, Development, and Improvement.

In this report, Figures 1 through 3 provide data on Part A and Part C grant applications overall. Figure 4 presents data on the number and percentage of FY94 Part A and Part C grant applications by application type (new and continuing). Figures 5 through 7 present data on funding of Part A and Part C new grant applications. Due to the low number (N=2) of nonfunded continuing grants in FY94, no parallel figures are presented for the data on funding status of continuing grants. All continuing grant applications were funded with the exception of one continuing Special Alternative Instructional and one continuing Special Populations application.

Figure 1 shows the funding status of Part A and Part C grant applications. Grants were awarded to 59.6% of Part A applications and 38.2% of Part C applications.

Notes: Figure 2

Figure 2 presents the number and percentage of applications by program type and funding status for FY94 Title VII Part A programs. Of the total 1,814 Part A grant applications, the Transitional Bilingual Education (Regular) Program received the largest number of applications (N=720). Approximately 62 percent (N=449) of these applications were funded. The Special Alternative Instructional (Regular) Program had the second largest number of applications (N=389); of these, 57.6 percent (N=224) were funded. Programs that show all applications funded were programs for which there were continuing applications only.

Notes: Figure 3

Figure 3 provides data on the number and percentage of applications by program type and funding status for FY94 Title VII Part C programs. Of the 413 total Part C applications, the Educational Personnel Training Program received the largest number of applications (N=193); of these, 31.1% (N=60) were funded. All of the Educational Personnel Training (Math/Science Priority) applications and Training, Development, and Improvement applications were funded; all the applications in these programs were for continuing projects.

Figure 4 presents the number and percentage of FY94 grant applications by type of application: new and continuing. Forty-six percent of all Part A grants and 24.8% of all Part C grants were continuing grants in FY94. Of the total 936 continuing Part A and Part C grants, only one Special Alternative Instructional continuing project and one continuing Special Populations project were nonfunded in FY94.

Notes: Figure 5

Figure 5 presents the funding status of Part A and Part C applications for new grants. Approximately 54% of all Part A applications and 75% of all Part C applications were new applications. In FY94, 25.5% of Part A and 17.8% of Part C applications for new grants were funded.

Figure 6 provides data on the number and percentage of new applications by program type and funding status for FY94 Title VII Part A programs. Of the 980 total Part A new applications, the Transitional Bilingual Education (Regular) Program received the largest number of applications (N=426); of these, 36.4% were funded. The Special Alternative Instructional (Regular) Program received the next largest number of new grant applications (N=208), and 21.2% were funded.

* There were no FY94 Title VII funds for Part A new grants in the following programs: Transitional Bilingual Education (Math/Science Priority), Transitional Bilingual (Recent Arrivals Priority), Developmental Bilingual Education (Magnet Schools Priority), Special Alternative Instructional (Magnet Schools Priority), Special Alternative Instructional (Math/Science Priority), and Special Alternative Instructional (Recent Arrivals Priority).

Figure 7 shows the number and percentage of grant applications for new Title VII Part C programs. Of the 309 applications for new grants, the Educational Personnel Training (Regular) Program received the largest number of applications (N=163); of these, 18.4% were funded. The Bilingual Education Fellowship Program had the greatest percentage of funded new applications. In this program, 15 of the 17 applications (88.2%) were funded.

Number of Students Served by Program Type and State: FY93 Title VII Part A Programs

This report provides data on the number of students served by FY93 Title VII Part A programs by program type and state. Table 1 presents the number of LEP, non-LEP, and total students served by program type for FY93 Title VII Part A programs. Table 2 presents data on the number of LEP, non-LEP, and total students served by states and territories. Figure 1 presents a map of the United States showing the number of LEP students served by states and territories.

Table 1 presents the number of LEP, non-LEP, and total students served by program type for FY93 Title VII Part A programs. Approximately 67 percent of all students served by Title VII programs were served in the Transitional Bilingual Education Program (N=243,418). The Special Alternative Instructional Program serves approximately 27 percent (N=96,008) of all students served by Title VII programs.

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

Number of LEP Students in Four Language Categories: FY93 Title VII Part A Programs

This report provides data on the language background of students within FY93 Title VII Part A projects. The Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy programs are not included in this report because they do not directly serve students. Figure 1 presents data on the number of LEP students in four language categories for all FY93 Title VII Part A programs that serve students. These four categories are Spanish, Ten Most Common Asian Languages, Native American Languages, and Other Languages. Figures 2 and 3 present these same language categories separately for the Transitional Bilingual Education, Special Alternative Instructional, Developmental Bilingual Education, and Special Populations programs.

Figure 1 shows the distribution of LEP students served by Title VII projects within four language categories: Spanish, Ten Most Common Asian Languages, Native American Languages, and Other Languages. Of the 306,821 LEP students, approximately 61 percent were of Spanish language background. The Ten Most Common Asian Languages category represented 16 percent of all LEP students served, and the Native American Languages category represented approximately 10 percent of all LEP students served.

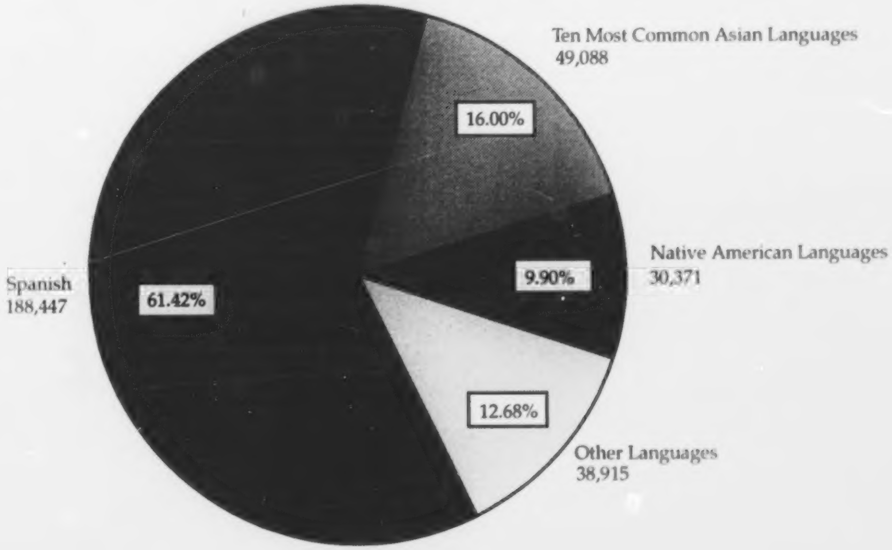
(N=306,821)



* The data in this figure are based on application data provided by 916 (92.1%) of the total 995 Part A projects. The Ten Most Common Asian Languages are defined as eastern and southeastern Asian languages with the greatest number of LEP students served. These are Vietnamese, Chinese, Hmong, Cambodian, Korean, Thai, Tagalog, Palauan, Japanese, and Miao-Yao. The Other Languages category includes languages not included in the three specific language categories and languages which were unspecified in Title VII applications.

Figure 2 presents the same four language categories for the Transitional Bilingual Education and Special Alternative Instructional programs (including their respective priority programs). Spanish LEP students represented the largest percentage of LEP students served for both the Transitional Bilingual Education (70 percent) and Special Alternative Instructional (37 percent) programs. Students from the Ten Most Common Asian Languages category represented the second largest percentage of LEP students served by the Transitional Bilingual Education (13 percent) and Special Alternative Instructional (26 percent) programs.

* The data in these figures are based upon application data from 553 (94.7%) of the total 584 Transitional Bilingual Education projects and 276 (87.1%) of the total 317 Special Alternative Instructional projects. The Ten Most Common Asian Languages are defined as eastern and southeastern Asian languages with the greatest number of LEP students served. These are Vietnamese, Chinese, Hmong, Cambodian, Korean, Thai, Tagalog, Palauan, Japanese, and Mia-Yao. The Other Languages category includes languages outside of the three specific language categories and also includes languages which were unspecified in Title VII applications.

Figure 3 presents the number of students within the four language categories for the Developmental Bilingual Education (including the Magnet Schools Priority projects) and Special Populations programs. Spanish LEP students represented the largest percentage (90 percent) of the LEP students served in the Developmental Bilingual Education Program, followed by students within the Ten Most Common Asian Languages (7 percent). There were no Native American students served in the FY93 Developmental Bilingual Education Program. For the Special Populations Program, the Spanish language category represented the largest percentage (65 percent) of the LEP students served, followed by the Native American Languages (23 percent).

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

Number of LEP Students Served in the Most Common Language Groups: FY93 Title VII Part A Programs

This report provides data on the number of LEP students served in the most common language groups in FY93 Title VII Part A programs. The Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy programs are not included in this report because they do not directly serve students. Figure 1 presents a pie chart showing the overall number of LEP students served by the most common language groups. Figure 2 presents the number of LEP students within the five most common languages for the Transitional Bilingual Education, Special Alternative Instructional, Developmental Bilingual Education, and Special Populations programs. Special Priority programs are included within their relevant program category.

Figure 1 displays data on the number and percentage of LEP students within the most common language groups served by Title VII Part A programs. Approximately 61 percent (N=188,447) of all LEP students served by Title VII Part A programs are in the Spanish language group.

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

Obligated Funding Per Student: FY93 Title VII Part A Programs

This report presents data on obligated funding per student for FY93 Title VII Part A programs. Table 1 presents obligated funding per student (LEP and non-LEP) by state. Table 2 presents the obligated funding per student and per LEP student by program. Throughout this report, the data for obligated funding is based on the total 1,065 FY93 Title VII Part A projects. The data on the number of students, number of LEP students, amount per student, and per LEP student are based on the 916 projects (86% of the total projects) that directly serve students and which provided student data.

Table 1 presents the obligated funding per student (including LEP and non-LEP) by state for FY93 Title VII Part A Programs. The average amount per student for all states was $356. The greatest amount per student was in Maine ($1,336). The smallest amount per student was in Kentucky ($49).

Table 2 presents the obligated funding per student and per LEP student by program. The greatest overall difference between the amount per student ($1,137) and the amount per LEP student ($554) was found in the Developmental Bilingual Education Program. This was to be expected, given that Developmental Bilingual Education projects are designed to include both LEP and non-LEP students.

Number of Projects and Funding for FY94 Title VII Programs by Year of Initial Funding

The purpose of this report is to provide data on the number of projects and the amount of funding for FY94 Title VII programs by year of initial funding. Figure 1 provides information on the number of projects and funding for Title VII Part A programs overall by year of initial funding. Tables 1 and 2 provide data on the number of projects and funding, presented by individual Part A program type and year of initial funding.

Figure 2 presents the number of projects and funding amounts for FY94 Title VII Part C programs overall. Tables 3 and 4 present data on the number of projects and funding, respectively, by individual Part C program type and year of initial funding.

Figure 1 presents the number of projects and funding amounts for FY94 Title VII Part A Programs by year of initial funding. Overall, 1,082 Part A projects received approximately $152 million in Title VII funding in FY94. The largest number of Part A projects were initially funded in FY92 (N=311); these projects received about $43 million in funding for FY94.

Figure 2 presents the number of projects and funding amounts for FY94 Title VII Part C Programs by year of initial funding. Overall, 157 Part C projects received approximately $25 million in Title VII funding in FY94. The largest amount of Part C funding was initially funded in FY93 (53 projects, $8.7 million); however, the largest number of projects were initially funded in FY94 (55 projects, $8.0 million).

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

Number of Projects Serving Specific Language Groups: FY93 Title VII Programs

This report provides data on the number of projects serving specific language groups in FY93 Title VII Part A and Part C programs. Figure 1 presents data on the number of Part A projects serving students in the ten non-English language groups most commonly served. Figure 2 displays the number of projects serving students in the five languages most commonly served, separately for the Transitional Bilingual Education, Special Alternative Instructional, Developmental Bilingual Education, and Special Populations programs. Figure 3 provides data on the number of Part C projects training participants to serve the ten non-English language groups most commonly served. Figure 4 presents the number of projects training participants to serve the five languages most commonly served, separately for the Educational Personnel Training and Short-Term Training programs.

Figure 1 displays data on the number of FY93 Title VII Part A projects serving students in the ten language groups most commonly served. Spanish is the most common language group to be served by projects (N=704), while Vietnamese is the second most common language group (N=208).

* The language categorizations used follow the U.S. Bureau of the Census, Population Division, language code lists (1990 Census, Appendix I). Projects may serve students in more than one language group. Of the remaining 188 languages, the 10 most commonly served non-English languages are: Hindi, Farsi, Portuguese, Polish, Rumanian, Cherokee, Mandarin, French Creole, Hmong, and Gujarati.

The number of projects serving students within the five languages most commonly served by each Title VII Part A program is presented in Figure 2. Within each program category, the largest number of projects served Spanish speaking students [Transitional Bilingual Education (N=416), Special Alternative Instructional (N=213), Developmental Bilingual Education (N=41), and Special Populations (N=34)].

FY94 Title VII Part A Projects Serving Students in Pre-Kindergarten

The following report provides a listing by state of FY94 Title VII Part A projects serving students in pre-kindergarten. This listing does not include Part A projects from the Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy programs because they do not directly serve students.

Each project listing includes the grant number, grantee organization, city, state, project director, and project director's phone number. The last three columns in the listing denote whether a project served pre-K students in public, private, and/or Indian schools. A "1" indicates that the school type served pre-K students, while a "0" indicates that the school type did not serve pre-K students.

Title VII Services to Native American Students:
FY94 Title VII Part A Programs

Short Turnaround Report, No. 62

July 31, 1995

Development Associates, Inc.

Research, Evaluation, and Survey Services Division

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

Title VII Services to Native American Students: FY94 Title VII Part A Programs

The following report provides information for Title VII Part A projects serving Native American students. Throughout this report, the term "Native American" is used to refer to students from Native American language backgrounds and Alaskan Native language backgrounds. In FY94, Native American students were served by projects within the following seven programs: Transitional Bilingual Education (Regular), Transitional Bilingual Education (Math/Science Priority), Developmental Bilingual Education (Regular), Special Alternative Instructional (Regular), Special Alternative Instructional (Math/Science Priority), Special Alternative Instructional (Recent Arrivals Priority), and Special Populations. The data in this report which relate to Native American students are based on application data from 961 (94.4 percent) of the total 1,018 Part A projects that were funded in FY94.

Table 1 presents the total number of projects serving students and the number of projects that serve Native American students. Overall, 202 projects serve one or more Native American students. Of those projects serving Native American students, 109 (54%) serve Native American students only.

Table 2 displays data on the number of Native American students served by Title VII Part A programs. Overall, there were 355,927 students served by Part A programs; 34,239 of the students served were Native American. Of those Native American students, 28,176 (82.3%) were LEP students. The Transitional Bilingual Education (Regular) program served the largest number of Native American students (18,746 LEP and non-LEP).

* The data in this table is based on 961 projects (94.4% of the total 1,018 projects) that provided data on language background. The Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy Programs do not directly serve students. Native American refers to both Native American and Alaskan Native students.

str62 proj9401.db, stud9401.db

Table 3 presents the amount of funding for Part A projects serving Native American students as compared to funding for all Part A projects that serve students directly. Part A projects that provide direct services to students received approximately $141.3 million in funding. Approximately $18.0 million (12.8 percent of the total $141.3 million) was used by projects to serve Native American students. However, this figure may slightly underestimate the actual amount of funding for Native American students since the estimate is based on 94.4% of the total funded projects. The Transitional Bilingual Education (Regular) program directed the largest amount of funding toward services to Native American students ($9,868,407), followed by the Transitional Bilingual Education (Math/Science Priority) program ($3,162,552) and the Special Alternative Instructional (Regular) program ($2,981,133).

The Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy programs do not directly serve students. The remaining data in this table are based on the 961 (94.4%) projects that provided data on language background. Native American refers to both Native American and Alaskan Native students.

 Estimates of funding for Native American students were calculated based on project-level analyses, as follows (1) The amount of estimated funding per student within each project was obtained by dividing the obligated funds for the project by the total number of students proposed to be served. (2) This per student estimate was then multiplied by the number of Native American students to be served by the project to obtain a project-level estimate of funding for services to Native American students. (3) The project estimates were summed to obtain estimated amounts of funds for Native American students for individual program categories and for Part A programs overall.

Table 4 includes both student and funding data for Native American students (LEP and non-LEP combined). In FY94, 9.6 percent of all students served in Part A programs were Native Americans. In contrast, 12.8 percent of the funding for Part A projects was used to serve Native American students. This may slightly underestimate the actual amount of funding for Native American students since the estimate is based on 961 (94.4%) of the total projects funded.

Obligated Funding Per Student: FY94 Title VII Part A Programs

Short Turnaround Report, No. 63

August 1, 1995

Development Associates, Inc.
Research, Evaluation, and Survey Services Division

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

Obligated Funding Per Student: FY94 Title VII Part A Programs

This report presents data on obligated funding per student for FY94 Title VII Part A programs. Table 1 presents obligated funding per student (LEP and non-LEP) by state. Table 2 presents the obligated funding per student and per LEP student by program. Throughout this report, the data for obligated funding is based on the total 1,082 FY94 Title VII Part A projects. The data on the number of students, number of LEP students, funding amount per student, and funding amount per LEP student are based on the 961 projects (88.8% of the total projects) which directly serve students and which provided student data.

Notes: Table 1

Table 1 presents the obligated funding per student (including LEP and non-LEP) by state for FY94 Title VII Part A Programs. The average amount per student for all states was $397. The greatest amount per student was in the District of Columbia ($3,396). The smallest amount per student was in Virginia ($66).

Notes: Table 2

Table 2 presents the obligated funding per student and per LEP student by program. The greatest overall difference between the amount per student ($578) and the amount per LEP student ($1,178) was found in the Developmental Bilingual Education Program. This was to be expected, given that Developmental Bilingual Education projects are designed to include both LEP and non-LEP students.

Number of Students and Participants Served:
FY94 Title VII Part A and Part C Programs

This report provides data on the number of students and participants served by FY94 Title VII Part A and Part C programs by program type and state. Table 1 presents the number of LEP, non-LEP, and total students served by program type for FY94 Title VII Part A programs. Table 2 presents data on the number of LEP, non-LEP, and total students served in each of the states and territories. Figure 1 presents a map of the United States showing the number of LEP students served in states and territories. Table 3 presents data on the number of participants served by FY94 Title VII Part C programs by state and program type.

Table 1 presents the number of LEP, non-LEP, and total students served by program type for FY94 Title VII Part A programs. Approximately 66 percent of all students served by Title VII programs were served in the Transitional Bilingual Education Program (N=236,280). The Special Alternative Instructional Program served approximately 27 percent (N=94,748) of all students served by Title VII programs.

Summary of Projects and Students Served by Language Group: FY94 Title VII Part A Programs

This report provides data on language groups served by FY94 Title VII Part A Programs. Table 1 presents the number of projects serving the most frequent language groups by program type. Table 2 provides data on the number of LEP students by program type for the most frequently served language groups. Table 3 provides an alphabetized listing of all language groups served by Title VII Part A programs, indicating the number of projects and the number of LEP, non-LEP, and total students served for each language listed. The Academic Excellence Program and the Family English Literacy Program are not included in this report since they do not directly serve LEP students.

Table 1 presents the number of projects by program type within the ten language groups most frequently served by FY94 Title VII Part A projects. The Spanish language group is the language group served by the largest number of projects (N=723).

* The Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy Programs were not included in this table because they do not directly serve students.

 TBE= Transitional Bilingual Education Program (Regular); TBE(S)= Transitional Bilingual Education Program (Math/Science Priority); TBE(R)= Transitional Bilingual Education Program (Recent Arrivals Priority); DBE= Developmental Bilingual Education Program (Regular); DBE(M)= Developmental Bilingual Education Program (Magnet Schools Priority); SAIP= Special Alternative Instructional Program (Regular); SAIP(M)= Special Alternative Instructional Program (Magnet Schools Priority); SAIP(S)= Special Alternative Instructional Program (Math/Science Priority); SAIP(R)= Special Alternative Instructional Program (Recent Arrivals Priority); SP= Special Populations Program.

 The most frequent language groups are defined here as those languages served by the largest number of projects. The number of projects serving the most frequent language groups is larger than the total number of projects because projects may serve more than one language group.

Table 2 presents the number of LEP students within the ten language groups that are most commonly served by Part A projects. Spanish language LEP students represented the largest language group served. The other most common languages were four Asian languages (Vietnamese, Chinese, Hmong, and Cambodian), three Native American languages (Navaho, Cherokee, and Dakota), French Creole, and Russian.

* The Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy Programs were not included in this table because they do not directly serve students. The numbers in this table are based on 961 (94.4%) of the 1,018 Part A projects that directly serve students.

 TBE= Transitional Bilingual Education Program (Regular); TBE(S)= Transitional Bilingual Education Program (Math/Science Priority); TBE(R)= Transitional Bilingual Education Program (Recent Arrivals Priority); DBE= Developmental Bilingual Education Program (Regular); DBE(M)= Developmental Bilingual Education Program (Magnet Schools Priority); SAIP= Special Alternative Instructional Program (Regular); SAIP(M)= Special Alternative Instructional Program (Magnet Schools Priority); SAIP(S)= Special Alternative Instructional Program (Math/Science Priority); SAIP(R)= Special Alternative Instructional Program (Recent Arrivals Priority); SP= Special Populations Program.

 "Other Languages" refers to languages which were specified but did not rank as one of the most common languages. "Unspecified" refers to students whose language group was not available. Most frequent languages are defined here as the language groups with the largest number of LEP students served by Title VII Part A overall.

Notes: Table 3

For each language group served by Title VII Part A programs, Table 3 presents the number of projects that serve the language group and the number of LEP students, non-LEP students, and the total students served. The languages are listed alphabetically.

FY94 Grantees Eligible for Funding in FY95

Short Turnaround Report, No. 66

August 25, 1995

Development Associates, Inc.

Research, Evaluation, and Survey Services Division

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

FY94 Grantees Eligible for Funding in FY95

This report provides a listing of FY94 Title VII grantees who are eligible for funding in FY95. Each project listing includes the grant number, grantee organization, state, contact person, phone number, final year of funding (FY95 or FY96), number of LEP students, number of non-LEP students, and total number of students.

The listings are sorted by state and program. Projects in each state begin on a new page. Projects from the U.S. territories are listed at the end of document. Projects of special priority within respective programs are also listed (Magnet Schools Priority, Math/Science Priority, and Recent Arrivals Priority).

A list of CFDA codes with respective program titles and abbreviations is provided at the beginning of the listing.

Number of LEP Students in Four Language Categories: FY94 Title VII Part A Programs

Short Turnaround Report, No. 68

September 1, 1995

Development Associates, Inc.
Research, Evaluation, and Survey Services Division

This report was prepared for the U. S. Department of Education, Office of Bilingual Education and Minority Languages Affairs, under Contract No. T292001001, Task No. 4. The opinions, conclusions, and recommendations expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the Department of Education and no official endorsement by the Department of Education should be inferred.

Number of LEP Students in Four Language Categories: FY94 Title VII Part A Programs

This report provides data on the language background of students within FY94 Title VII Part A projects. Figure 1 presents data on the number of LEP students in four language categories for all FY94 Title VII Part A programs that serve students. These four categories are Spanish, Ten Most Common Asian Languages, Native American Languages, and Other Languages. Figures 2 and 3 present these same language categories separately for the Transitional Bilingual Education, Special Alternative Instructional, Developmental Bilingual Education, and Special Populations programs. The Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy programs are not included in this report because they do not directly serve students.

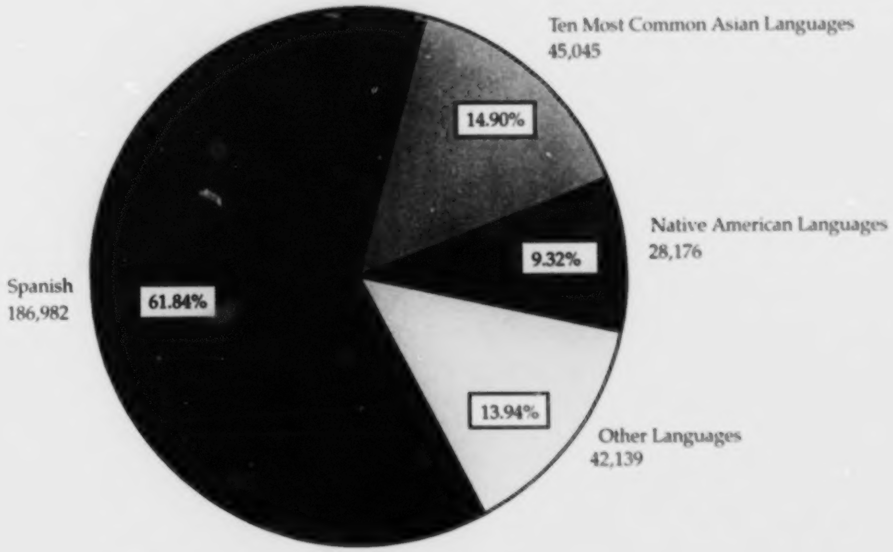
Notes: Figure 1

Figure 1 shows the distribution of LEP students served by Title VII Part A projects within four language categories: Spanish, Ten Most Common Asian Languages, Native American Languages, and Other Languages. Of the 302,342 LEP students, 62 percent were of a Spanish language background. The Ten Most Common Asian Languages category represented 15 percent of all LEP students served, and the Native American Languages category represented 9 percent of all LEP students served.

FIGURE 1
Number of LEP Students in Four Language Categories: *
FY94 Title VII Part A Programs

(Source: FY94 Title VII Applications)

(N=302,342)



- The data in this figure are based on application data provided by 961 (94.4%) of the total 1,018 Part A projects directly serving students. The Ten Most Common Asian Languages are defined as eastern and southeastern Asian languages with the greatest number of LEP students served. These are Vietnamese, Chinese, Hmong, Cambodian, Thai, Korean, Tagalog, Miao-Yao, Ilocano, and Japanese. The Other Languages category includes languages not included in the three specific language categories and languages which were unspecified in Title VII applications.

Notes: Figure 2

Figure 2 presents the same four language categories for the Transitional Bilingual Education and Special Alternative Instructional programs (including their respective priority programs). Spanish LEP students represented the largest percentage of LEP students served for both the Transitional Bilingual Education (70 percent) and Special Alternative Instructional (41 percent) programs. Students from the Ten Most Common Asian Languages category represented the second largest percentage of LEP students served by the Transitional Bilingual Education (11 percent) and Special Alternative Instructional (27 percent) programs.

FIGURE 2

* The data in these figures are based upon application data from 588 (94.1%) of the total 625 Transitional Bilingual Education projects and 270 (94.7%) of the total 285 Special Alternative Instructional projects. The Ten Most Common Asian Languages are defined as eastern and southeastern Asian languages with the greatest number of LEP students served. These are Vietnamese, Chinese, Hmong, Cambodian, Thai, Korean, Tagalog, Miao-Yao, Ilocano, and Japanese. The Other Languages category includes languages outside of the three specific language categories and also includes languages which were unspecified in Title VII applications.

Figure 3 presents the number of students within the four language categories for the Developmental Bilingual Education (including the Magnet Schools Priority projects) and Special Populations programs. Spanish LEP students represented the largest percentage (62 percent) of the LEP students served in the Developmental Bilingual Education Program, followed by students within the Other Languages group (28 percent). For the Special Populations Program, the Spanish language category represented the largest percentage (60 percent) of the LEP students served, followed by the Other Languages group (15 percent).

- The data in these figures are based upon application data from 60 (96.8%) of the total 62 Developmental Bilingual Education projects and 43 (93.5%) of the total 46 Special Populations projects. The Ten Most Common Asian Languages are defined as eastern and southeastern Asian languages with the greatest number of LEP students served. These are Vietnamese, Chinese, Hmong, Cambodian, Thai, Korean, Tagalog, Miao-Yao, Ilocano, and Japanese. The Other Languages category includes languages outside of the three specific language categories and also includes languages which were unspecified in Title VII applications.

Number of LEP Students Served in the Most Common Language Groups: FY94 Title VII Part A Programs

This report provides data on the number of LEP students served in the most common language groups in FY94 Title VII Part A programs. The Academic Excellence and Family English Literacy programs are not included in this report because they do not directly serve students. Figure 1 presents a pie chart showing the overall number of LEP students served in the most common language groups. Figure 2 presents the number of LEP students within the five most common languages for the Transitional Bilingual Education, Special Alternative Instructional, Developmental Bilingual Education, and Special Populations programs. Special Priority programs are included within their relevant program category.
